County court help asked

The Belle Glade City Commission resolved Monday to request the state government to fund county courts systems and take any action needed to be sure state residents don't suffer because of the abolition of municipal courts, due to take place Jan. 1, 1977.

The resolution also urged the state government leaders to "candidly advise the citizens of the State of Florida of the impact that will inevitably result when the County Courts of the State of Florida are required to assume the additional burden of accepting the obligations and jurisdictions of municipal courts, and especially the affect such additional burden will have upon providing speedy trials for persons charged with the violation of state statutes of municipal ordinances."

The resolution points out that, "It has become apparent" the state funding hasn't been provided to allow the county courts to take up the slack in counties where the changeover has already taken place and suggests this failure will add to the increase in crime.

Another area the city is asking the state legislative, executive and judicial branches to tell the citizens about is that municipalities have not wanted over the system due to take place Jan. 3, 1977.

The amended State Constitution provides that municipal courts shall be phased out, along with city jails, on Jan. 3 but a move afoot in the state legislature to postpone the effective date for two years is being closely watched locally by those involved in the criminal justice system.

Long and narrow

It isn't exactly the straight and narrow but this bird's eye view of the construction going on along North Main Street shows the long and narrow of it. Once the construction above is completed, the Canal Hazards Safety Committee learned construction of the relocated stretch of SR80 from Hooker Highway to US98 is tentatively due to begin next year.

after transfer from Southwest section

Black officers won't return

The Belle Glade Police Department will be beefed up by two men in the near future but despite a plea to return them, black officers removed three weeks ago from the Southwest section of town will not be returned.

The city commission met with Police Chief Charles Goodlett Tuesday morning after Nathaniel Edwards, owner of the Starlite Club at 301 S.W. Sixth St., said there is an element of fear in the southwest section.

Goodlett said there is no difference now in law enforcement in the black section of town compared to three weeks ago. Edwards and Mayor-commissioner William Grear said crime has been on the increase, with the sale of drugs on an open basis on the sidewalk.

Goodlett told the commissioners he had pulled his three black officers out of the area to give them more overall experience and because they had complained they were "stuck in the Southwest section and can't get help."

Grear said that while there had been a number of demands from black citizens to remove the black officers he said some of the same people who had made those demands are now asking that they be returned.

While Edwards was the only person to speak on the issue during the regular commission meeting Monday night, Grear said 30 to 40 people were supposed to have been there.

Edwards said Monday night that black officers are more effective in the black section of the city because they are more familiar with the area and the people. "The people who ask to be committing crimes are more fearful of black officers," Edwards said, "but even if they do return, crime will stay and grow until we get a walking cop back on the beat, especially in the Fourth and Sixth Streets."

City Commissioner Aubrey Farmer asked Edwards

how he would feel about the idea of single walking patrolmen accompanied by dogs. "I feel a man and a dog would get more respect than two officers," Edwards replied.

"If we put one man down there," Farmer said, "and sooner or later he's going to be killed. You know as well as I do it gets dangerous down there on Friday and Saturday nights."

"It is dangerous," Edwards agreed, "but what are you going to do, pull out the officers and leave the citizens to themselves?"

The danger came up again the next morning when Goodlett warned the commissioners that if a walking patrolman is reassigned to the Southwest section, there could be trouble.

He said the main reason for the trouble would be that a patrolman would sooner or later be forced to disperse some of the crowds on sidewalks, if he were doing his job, "and they wouldn't like that."

Mayor Grear said he thought the commission had budgeted three walking officers for this year and Goodlett agreed but said three other officers had been taken away from the force.

The commissioners said they didn't understand because they couldn't remember taking away any officers.

Goodlett said he understood that three officers had been removed during budget sessions but if a commission was agreeable, he would hire two more officers already provided for under the budget, although they wouldn't be assigned to walking duty.

"The people walking officer," the police chief said, "is the best crime preventative we have. A good example of that is the snatching (at Glades Plaza). It's about non-existent now, but a walking officer is limited. He can't cover the area."

When Farmer asked Goodlett what he thought about the idea of using patrolmen walking beats with dogs, using two to four dogs which would be paid for outside the police budget, Goodlett said he would have to think about it.

He said the department is already considering buying one or two more dogs following the success of the city's first police-trained dog.

Commissioner Ralph Kirk warned there would probably be trouble caused by the use of the dogs.

In response to a question about what would happen when the city jail is closed in January, Goodlett said the city would no longer have the jail personnel on the payroll but he didn't see any other change in his personal requirements.

CHRISTIAN DAY SCHOOL STUDENT RICKY MCCROAN REQUESTS ...the City Commission for a donation for safety patrol Washington trip

City approves $18,500 home rehabilitation job

The Belle Glade City Commission agreed Monday night to accept an offer of $18,500 to make repairs on the home of Maner Godfrey at 537 S.W. Ninth St. under the city's Community Block Grant program.

The commission had earlier concurred with the Citizens Planning and Advisory Committee to reject a bid for the same job in the amount of $21,000.

The presentation was made to the commission by W. C. Taylor of the committee, in the absence of Executive Director George Gartner, who was in the hospital.

Taylor said the committee received the offer in lieu of re-bidding, since it was felt the best interests of the city wouldn't be served by advertising for bids again.

The committee accepted the $18,500 proposal but he would have voted against it, as he did, the $21,000 bid.

"I'm for the program," Nachman told the commissioners, "but I'm against spending that kind of money on property worth $2,000." Commissioner Tom Altman pointed out to the other commissioners that about half the amount would be a loan which would be paid back by Godfrey while he is a grant.

In other housing news, the city agreed to use rock from the city rock pit to be used as a base for streets in housing project begun 12 years ago.

City Manager George Knoblock recommended the commission let the city rock, up to the value of $12,800, be used to lay the foundations for streets in Rancho Subdivision since that amount is already in escrow with the city.

Developer E. Roemer reminded the commission he had put $12,800 in escrow with the city in 1963. He said he is turning the project over to Michael Zump but is still retaining some interest in it.

Zump also asked the city for some 10,000 gallons of sewage out of the 13,000 gallons the city has left under a special permit by the county health department to provide sewage for the 10 triplexes he intends to build on the property.

The land is located on SR80 just west of Tabit Road.

The commission passed on a final reading an ordinance proposed by the Lake Shore Community Club, which changes the zoning of property across Southwest Avenue from Lake Shore Junior High from R2 to R1 residential.

The commission also agreed to donate $300 to members of the Christian Day School safety patrol for their upcoming trip to Washington D.C., which was led by the patrol member Ricky McCroan served as a spokesman for the 14 members in asking the city's participation.

The motion also provided the city would donate $500 to any other school sending safety patrol members to Washington on the junket.

Learned the most recent appraisals of 10 acres of land on which the city hopes to build a recreation center in the Lake Shore section of town was, respectively, $100,000 and $105,000.

Photos, citizen input asked on Miami Lock museum

LAKE HARBOR--Lt. Richard Roberts doesn't claim to know much about the life of the lockmasters who operated the old Miami Locks here but he's trying to find out.

Roberts, an interpretive naturalist with the Florida Department of Natural Resources, is attempting to find photographs, furniture and anything else from that period in the Miami Locks museum by July 4th.

Roberts said the department, which is rebuilding the locks along with the lockmaster's shack as a museum and a point on the Florida Bicentennial Trail is trying to make everything as authentic as possible.

The trouble is, he said, too little is known about the way the lockmasters lived, what their daily routine was and even about the furniture they used.

He said he was able to unearth quite a bit about life in general among the Everglades pioneers from a number of books, what he would like to find now is anything actually used or photographs going back to the 1910's and 1920's.

Just to give an example, he said, "we're trying to find a lantern right now but we don't even know what the lantern looked like, what color it was or even how it was used."

On the other hand, Roberts said some of the general ideas of what the Everglades and Lake Okechobee was like 100 years ago were little more than fantasy.

He said there was at least one report written in an outdoors magazine in 1873 describing three islands in the lake with "towering lakeshore cliffs, a magnificent forest of vegetation and giant spiders three feet long and weighing three or four pounds."

"We're trying to get across the changes in the past 100 years," Roberts said. "They've really been dramatic since the old Everglades Drainage District started building the lock in 1913."

Part of that history of change goes back to 1881 when Hamilton Distin demonstrated by constructing 40 miles of canal and river improvements that the water level in the Glades could be lowered. Distin also, however, showed just how expensive and enormously complex drainage problem was.

Distin was the first to make an attempt to dredge what is now known as the Miami Canal. The effort was to clear the canal south to link Lake Okechobee to the Shark Valley and Florida Bay. Roberts said Distin made it less than a mile before striking rock his dredge couldn't handle and he had to abandon the project.

He said it wasn't until 1902 that work began again on the canal and construction of the locks at Lake Harbor, along with the spillway and lockhouse, began.

Roberts noted that while the earliest canals were dug with the express purpose of drainage in mind, the 1906 and '28 hurricanes changed the emphasis to flood control. Since then, the emphasis has again been switched, this time to water conservation.

But it's the early years, when the Miami locks were still in operation that the state is primarily interested in the early settlers in the area.

Besides photos and artifacts of the time, Roberts said he would like to have input from any of the early settlers in the Lake Okechobee region. He said he could be reached by calling telephone number 305-546-3771.

The museum has been a pet project of County Commissioner E. W. "Bud" Weaver for some time and it was his interest which had the lock placed on the Florida Bicentennial Trail.

Altman decides against running

Belle Glade City Commissioner Tom Altman said Tuesday he had definitely decided against running for the Palm Beach County Commission seat, being vacated by E. W. "Bud" Weaver in November.

Altman said he had been urged by a number of friends to run for the position and, "the support and encouragement for this candidacy has been overwhelming and is deeply appreciated."

"However," he said, "many of the goals I had hoped to see accomplished in the City of Belle Glade have not been realized and I feel it is appropriate that I devote my political energies toward completing these items."

Altman said another reason he had decided against running for the county commission seat is his own personal business considerations.

Audubons to meet

The Lake Okechobee Audubon Society will hold its April meeting at the Belle Glade Public Library at 8 p.m. today. The program will include a movie entitled, "Wetlands of the U.S.A.," a slide presentation called, "Environment and Survival," a study of water areas in the United States will also be presented. The study includes the Everglades, the Okefenokee Swamp and the bay area of Louisiana.

Flowery flag

The nursery class of Lansing Gordon added a bit of color to Glades Central High School Thursday when they planted a floral flag. The field of stars is actually made from plywood but the red and white stripes are formed by rows of Snowflake and Scarlet Charm Dianthus flowers. The field is also intended to plant shrubbery around the "Home of the Raiders" sign and the flag.

Area Shell Oil dealers were honored recently at a dinner held at the Clewiston Inn in recognition of more than 20 years as service station operators. Paul Sasser, area distributor, was host for the dinner which honored three Ford brothers. Present at the dinner with their wives were, left to right, Carey Ford and son Nickle of Moore Haven; Ralph Ford of Moore Haven and Clewiston; Mr. Sasser, and Lonnie Ford of Clewiston. Special guests in addition to Mrs. Sasser were the Reverend and Mrs. Bob Lynch of The First Baptist Church Clewiston.

Labor Board honors Sikes

The 39th meeting of the Regional Labor Board, comprising representatives of the governments of the Windward and Leeward Islands, Barbados and Jamaica recently was highlighted by a presentation to Fred Sikes of U.S. Sugar Corp.

Sikes was presented the Jamaican Award of Commander of the Order of Distinction (Honorary) for his outstanding contribution to the United States Farm Program.

It is under the program that British West Indies workers are recruited to cut sugar cane for the Glades area sugar industry.

Sikes is president of the Florida Sugar Growers Association, one of the two groups representing the employers. He has held the post since 1965 and has been involved in the program as a spokesman for almost 30 years.

Florizel Glasspole, Governor General of Jamaica, making the presentation, noted Sikes will be retiring in the near future and was serving as a spokesman for the American growers for the last time.

Barbados cherry is excellent shrub

Shrubs such as the Barbados cherry and Surinam cherry are many times used as hedges and produce several crops of tasty fruit throughout the year. Other types of shrubs may be planted to attract birds and almost any type of fruiting plant will serve this purpose.

Most hedges should be fertilized every three to four months and on small hedges may be necessary to fertilize every other month. The most common analysis of fertilizer used in this area is a 5-6-6 or 8-8-8 containing all trace elements.

Stetson president to speak to PBAC grads

The president of Stetson University, Dr. John E. Johns, will speak at the fifth spring graduation exercises of Palm Beach Atlantic College April 30th.

The conferring of degrees will be held at 8 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of West Palm Beach.

Dr. Warner Earle Fussell, president of the college, will present the diplomas to the graduates and will introduce Dr. Johns.

Dr. Johns has been president of Stetson since 1970. He started his academic career in the department of history and political science at Stetson in 1948. He has been business manager in 1963 and vice president for finance and planning in 1968.

Dr. Johns has received honorary doctorates from Stetson, Furman and William Jewell College.

For the first time the graduating class will be comprised only of those seniors completing their undergraduate work this semester rather than in the summer. The liberal arts college held its first mid-year graduation exercises last December.

USSC airs promotions

The promotions of officers of U.S. Sugar Corp. have been announced Wednesday by President John Boy.

The promotions were brought about by the retirement of S. K. Swayne, vice president of finance and treasurer. Boy named Harry Vaughn, formerly the corporation's vice president of administration, will take Swayne's place as vice president of finance.

Doug Lewis, secretary, was named secretary-treasurer. S. L. Lang was promoted to the board of officers as assistant secretary.

Vaughn, a native of Clewiston, attended the University of Miami and Georgia Tech University. He was employed by Kimberly-Clark in Tennessee before coming back to Clewiston to join USSC in 1961.

His wife is named Claire and they have three children, Harry III, a student at the University of Florida, Michael and Christen, students at Clewiston High.

Lewis is a graduate of the University of Florida. He worked in both North Carolina and Florida before joining USSC in 1964 as acting assistant secretary and assistant treasurer. He's a native of Florida and he and his wife, Donna, have two children, Chuck and Lisa, both students at Clewiston High.

Sun power used to cure onions

To cope with the ever-rising cost of groceries, Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences researchers at the Agricultural Research and Education Center here are using low-cost sun power to cure newly harvested onions.

Onions are placed in plastic tunnels to generate solar heat and to develop a natural hot air draft to add the just right crunch to tasty onions prior to delivery to the grocer's vegetable bin.

The sun-cured onions, along with packing sweet corn to look in harvest fresh bunch, will be a highlight of the annual vegetable field day on May 6 at the center, located four miles east of town on US441.

The field day site is on rich organic mud, but since many visitors will be from sandy areas, special suggestions will be given on growing vegetables on non-organic soils.

The program will begin at 9 a.m. and will feature talks in the morning a Dutch treat lunch and a tour of the experimental plots in the afternoon.

The annual show and tell program is a down to earth way to bring growers up to date on the newest facts about commercial vegetable production.

The field day is sponsored by the Florida Cooperative Extension Service, the Palm Beach Extension Service and the University of Florida Agricultural Research Center.

E.T. Jones announces retirement

Everglades Federal Savings and Loan Association announced this week the retirement of Elmer T.

Jones, vice president and manager of the Pahokee branch office since it was opened 13 years ago.

Jones, 62, moved into the area in 1933 from Wauchula. He opened the branch office in 1963 and has served as manager since then, according to Charles B. Trammel Jr., executive vice president and managing officer of the local savings and loan association, said Tuesday.

Jones is a former president of the Pahokee Rotary Club and a member of the Pahokee First Baptist Church. Before going into the savings and loan business, the Ohio native was the owner of a meat market and managed the town's hard ware store.

"While no decision has been made on a successor for Mr. Jones," Trammel said, "Charles J. Burgess of our home office will serve as interim manager."

Boaters are warned

Boaters in the Glades area were warned this week by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers channels in Lake Okeechobee.

People once believed that carrying a bloodstone would make them invincible.

Cortons attractive

For persons desiring a hedge with attractive colored foliage cortons or Acalypha (copper leaf) are highly prized. They come in many variations of color and take shearing very well. They are not highly shade tolerant and should be used where they get plenty of light to keep the colors at their best.

For attractive dark green foliage such plants as the Surinam cherry, orange jasmine, ligustrum, carissa or viburnum may be used.

Okeechobee can't be relied on to maintain eight feet of water should the level of the lake continue to fall at its present rate.

Jack A. Howalt, acting Director of the Operations Division of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, said the project level of Lake Okeechobee is based on a lake elevation of 12.56 feet and the level is now 12.50 feet.

All navigation passing through the waterway," Howalt said, "should exercise caution and take this anticipated reduced depth into consideration until such time as the water level of Lake Okeechobee returns to normal."

Howalt said further information concerning the daily lake state may be obtained by calling the area engineer in Clewiston at (813) 983-8101.

Blood pressure tests to be given

A blood pressure screening program will take place Friday and Saturday at Glades General Hospital as part of a county-wide program being sponsored by the Palm Beach County High Blood Pressure Council.

The program will begin at 10 a.m. and last until 4 p.m. according to a council spokesman.

The council includes the Heart Association of Palm Beach County, the Health Department, the Palm Beach County Medical Society, the Medical Society Auxiliary and the Pharmaceutical Association.

High blood pressure, also known as hypertension, was described as a silent killer which has no constant symptoms. A person can have it for years and never know it.

It is dangerous because when blood pressure is higher than normal, it exerts force on the artery walls. Eventually, these walls stretch and the heart must work harder.

This constant pounding of artery walls makes it easier for fatty deposits to find a place to settle and the passage for blood pressure narrower.

This eventually shuts off the blood to the heart, brain or kidneys, often resulting in death or severely damaged organs.

High blood pressure is becoming an epidemic. One out of every seven adults in the United States has this disease. Among black Americans the prevalence is twice as great. However, high blood pressure doesn't discriminate between men and women, the rich or poor. Everyone is susceptible to it.

It is estimated that at least half of the people who have high blood pressure do not know it. Of those who know, only one fourth are receiving adequate treatment.

If a person has high blood pressure, it can be controlled in about 90 per cent of the cases. A hypertensive person can live a completely normal life if he is properly controlling his problem.

Bicentennial B-B-Q tickets are now on sale

Tickets to the Belle Glade Bicentennial barbecue to be held May 31 are now on sale in the town's four banks according to Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce Executive Secretary Jewel Crane.

Mrs. Crane said the tickets are on sale at the Bank of Belle Glade, Everglades Federal Savings and Loan Association, Florida First National Bank in Belle Glade and People's Federal Savings and Loan Association.

She said the prices being set on the tickets, which will buy a barbecued chicken dinner for the last major event on Memorial Day, will cost $2 for children's tickets and adults will be charged $3 per ticket.

The barbecue will follow a parade which will get underway at 2 p.m. on May 31 and a dedication ceremony at the city library, which will also include the unveiling of the 1929 hurricane memorial statue.

Members of the Lake Okeechobee Traffic Council will meet at 7:30 p.m. at Billy's Restaurant in Okeechobee.

The guest speaker for the evening will be David Brown, terminal manager for Carolina Freight.

The council is made up of businessmen from all the towns around Lake Okeechobee dedicated for getting complete freight service for the Glades area. They meet monthly.

Cattlemens Assoc. makes 'good move'

The Palm Beach County Cattlemens Association made an invitation last week which should be accepted by any number of other associations not just in the county but throughout the state and nation.

Concerned about the number of assassinations of police officers over the last two or three years in the line of duty, the cattlemen have resolved to individually contribute to funds for the officers' families and as an association to attend the funerals of officers slain while on duty.

The association particularly expressed concern about the "apparent apathy of public opinion to this crime against the defenders of law and order in our society."

The invitation made by the association to other associations and the news media could just as well be extended to every private citizen and it could just as well be considered a challenge which should be accepted.

Whenever a police officer is hurt or killed, the public opinion is all too often expressed with the comment, "Well, that's his job."

But anytime a criminal strikes out at a police officer, that's a slap in the face of society as a whole and a small part of society dies with every officer who becomes a victim.

This country was founded on the philosophy that a rule of law is inherently more just and better for the people as a whole than rule by men.

When the enforcers of that law can be stricken down by criminals, who are already flouting every person in the nation, and those honest people say and do nothing, then rule by law is being shown to be impractical.

And the alternative is too terrible to contemplate.

Pat on the back

We figure that any time anyone is able to save us half a million dollars, and does it, he deserves some thanks.

So, thanks, city commissioners. Refloating that bond issue was a good move on your part. It wasn't quite a half million but $452,000 is close enough.

For those who aren't aware of it, the commission acted Monday afternoon to refloat the 1975 water and sewer bond issue, at a savings on interest rates which wasn't possible last year.

It was another case of the commissioners taking speedy action when they saw a chance to promote the city's welfare at a lower cost and that's what government is all about.

Getting ready for the next 200 years

DAY

200 YEARS OF LIBERTY & LAW

Pot Likker

by R-D Santee

I recently visited a relative of mine in prison. It was an extremely enlightening experience. My relative was due for parole in a few months and I mentioned that fact to him.

"Ain't leavin'" he said.

"Why?" I asked.

"Tried to 'scape' he answered.

"Why?" I asked incredulously.

"Cause I don't wanna get out."

He said.

I was dumbfounded. "You tried to escape because you didn't want to get out?"

"Yep."

Now, in the past, my relative has found it extremely difficult to make sense out of anything. I was determined to pursue this until I understood. Even if it took me a week.

"Why would you try to escape if you didn't want to leave?" I queried.

"Cause they tack more time on you" he said.

"I don't understand."

"Let me illucidate for you" he said. (Never in his life had he used a word larger than five letters. This word 'illucidate' almost had the effect of an electric shock on me)

"You know" he began "how we were as a family. We were poor. So poor that Momma would use the same soup bone six times. Us twelve kids were all shiftless and lazy. It was easier to steal money than to work for it. As you know, I got caught stealin' money from Mr. McRobert's store. Only reason they caught me was because I didn't know nothin' 'bout burglar alarms. Well, they put me in here. We never had a T.V. Here I can choose from twenty T.V.'s, all of 'em color and I can watch any of 'em either sittin' up, layin' down or propped up on one arm. I like the propped up so I can sip along on my soda water. We got pool tables, ping pong, cigarettes, chewin' tobacco, swimmin' pool, a lounge...do you know what that lounge cost? Five million dollars by gosh! Why you couldn't find a better hotel on the French Riviera! This is a wonderful place to spend an extended vacation. Shucks, we don't even make license plates anymore. Why, I'm surprised more folks ain't breakin' the law just to get in. I don't want to leave for a while anyhow."

I looked around. "You get all this?" I asked.

"And more" he said, proudly "And I don't have to hit a lick at a snake. They feed me, give me clothes, shoes, free doctors, free dentists, the old lady gets to stay with me on week-ends, we see first run movies, heck I'd be stupid to want to leave. And if I ever do get out, at least I'll know that if things don't work out, I can always come back."

I was astounded. Envious is a better description. I thought back on all the years of suffering and slaving to make ends meet. How the responsibilities of lawful living were so overbearing.

"Besides all that," he added, "I'm gettin' a free college education."

"What are you majoring in?" I asked.

"Electrical engineering" he answered "I'm gonna make sure I don't trip any more burglar alarms."

CRACKER CRUMBS

BY DEAN JONES

Hoo, boy! Some people's idea of good luck may be better than no luck at all but not much.

Like the friend I visited over the weekend who was busily tearing into his car's engine to replace a stripped down timing gear. We both commented on how fortunate he was that the car broke down that morning at his house rather than the night before when he was on the road with his wife and family.

And every time we got to a part of that engine that was supposed to be hard to get off, everything just seemed to slide right off and we kept talking about...how lucky he was.

And while we were getting deeper and deeper into that engine and the grease and oil was getting deeper and deeper on our hands and arms, we kept watching a neighbor who was apparently burning off some land and telling each other it sure seemed windy to be burning off your back yard and how if he didn't watch it, that neighbor was going to find himself in trouble with a runaway grass fire.

And then we saw his neighbor stretching his hose as far as he obviously could and there were flames roaring gloriously out of control a good 50 feet further downwind and we finally decided the guy needed some help so we loaded a couple of shovels and hoses into his Buenco and made like a fire wagon.

And there it was again. We got to talking about how we were that we'd thought to bring more hoses with us and how we were just rolling in luck that the wind was blowing away from the house.

And in the middle of all these self-congratulations because of our good fortune, here comes about 147 neighbors who must have gotten the idea about the same time we did that the guy hadn't been just playing with matches.

And in the middle of all these neighbors, here came a couple of fire trucks with enough water to make sure the fire we'd put out didn't get the fire out in the pasture next door.

And there was the pasture's owner saying, "Let it burn." Seems that was the fourth fire to get out of control that week, what with fairly strong winds and dry weather.

Since we were lucky enough to have two fire trucks on the scene, the pasture owner figured this would be a good time to burn off his grass, especially since he was so fortunate as to have about half of it already taken care of, without endangering the land on the other side.

So we watched the volunteers set another fire where we had just finished putting one out and I asked someone there if anybody happened to have any weiners of marshmallows on them. We weren't lucky enough, however, to have a wienie roast as well as a bonfire.

"Ain't it nice," my friend remarked to his neighbors, whom he'd never talked to before, "to have a fire-so you can get some Sunday company. By this time, no one else said it but I was thinking about how lucky everyone was to get an excuse to go visiting on Sunday, something we used to do without the benefit of a fire."

Matter of fact, everything turned out so well, I wouldn't have been surprised to hear old Dame Fortune was smiling all day Sunday. Either that or laughing out loud because the way I figured it, with that kind of good luck, I'd just as soon not have any bad to leave off the general hilarity.

Aluminum to bring fifteen cents in May Belle Glade area residents recycled 13,725 pounds of aluminum last month, which is the equivalent of 315,675 aluminum beverage cans.

Reynolds Aluminum Recycling Company paid out $2,058.75 for the aluminum cans and other clean household aluminum.

During May, the public will receive 15 cents per pound for their household price.

All-aluminum cans have no glue or bottom seams and are non-magnetic. According to John Spellen, Reynolds District Manager for aluminum recycling, a person seeking information about aluminum recycling should call the statewide toll-free number 1-800-282-7797 any week day between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Harvey to be seen

A special buffet and a benefit performance of "Harvey", the fanciful story written by Mary Chase about an invisible rabbit, will be presented at 1 p.m. Sunday by the Mental Health Association of Palm Beach County.

The outing, due to take place at the Delray Beach Playhouse on Lake Ida at Northwest Ninth Street, is in celebration of Mental Health Month.

The picnic in the park buffet will take place at 1 p.m. and curtain time will be at 2:30 p.m. Tickets are $15 each or $25 for two.

Missionary Society holds an Educational Anniversary Program at 9 p.m. Sunday. The services will take place at the church, located at 600 S.W. Eighth St., the Rev. J. B. Adams, pastor.

Mrs. Vivian Byrd, president of the missionary society, said Dr. Wright holds a B.S. degree from Bethune-Cookman College in Daytona Beach, a master of arts degree from the University of Wisconsin, Ed.S. and Ed.D. degrees from the University of Florida.

He has many professional honors bestowed upon him, Mrs. Byrd said. He is an active member of various civic organizations, a member of the Second Baptist Church in Miami.

Sing scheduled at Community United Methodist

There will be a gospel sing at Community United Methodist Church on Sunday afternoon, May 2, beginning at 2 p.m.

Featured groups will be The Melody Three of the Church of God, The Kinard Family, The Buck Cobb Family, Dan and Lee, Reverend Ray Miller and Family, The Teen Trio and The Masters Trio of Loxahatchee and Shirley McCotter.

The afternoon will begin with a covered dish dinner in Jameson Hall at 1 p.m. The community is cordially invited to attend this afternoon of singing and fellowship.

Police seek for shooting suspect

Belle Glade police were still looking Tuesday for an unknown person who shot and critically injured a Belle Glade man Thursday night while apparently trying to burglarize his apartment.

James MacCrupp, 40, of 224 S.W. Sixth St., Apt. 6, was shot three times in the neck and head, with one small-caliber bullet lodging behind his left eye. He was still in St. Mary's Hospital in poor condition Tuesday.

Several of Scrapp's neighbors said they heard the three shots and someone running away down the building's balcony and down the stairs.

Landlord Charlie Statin and Burglary Tactical Unit officer Dan Crist found the lock on Scrapp's apartment door had been jimmied and the apartment had been ransacked.

Scrapp was found lying on the balcony outside the door of his apartment. He was lying on top of an opened knife and officers found $69.15 in bills and change beside the body and on the ground below the landing.

Rev. Marcel Lightbourne

Revival starts Sunday at Way of the Cross

The Way of the Cross Bible Mission presents a one week revival starting Sunday May 2, through May 9; services begin at 7:30 each night.

Marcel Lightbourne of Nassau, Bahamas will be the evangelist. Mr. Lightbourne is presently the manager of Real Life Ministries and Gospel Bells Broadcast. He also teaches a weekly course in Bible at the Commonwealth Bible College, a local institute, in Nassau. He is a graduate of the Miami Christian College with a degree in communications. He has preached in evangelistic services throughout the Bahamas, U.S.A., Bermuda and Jamaica. Marcel wants to have a special word with all the Jamaicans, and Bahamian residents in a special meeting.

Xi Zeta Mu enjoys program

The members of Xi Zeta Mu chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met April 25 at the home of their sponsor, Mrs. Jane Evans to install officers for the coming year.

Mrs. Gordon Corbin serves as co-hostess and in observance of "Law Week."

the guest speaker was Michael Miller, assistant state's attorney, who presented a program on estate planning, wills and divorce laws.

The new officers for 1976-77 were installed by the outgoing president, Mrs. James Jacks. They were Mrs. J. D. Lee III as president, Mrs. O. E. Schackelford as vice president, Mrs. Gordon Corbin as recording secretary, Mrs. James Chambliss as corresponding secretary, Mrs. Dan Wallis as treasurer, Mrs. Earl Armstrong as extension officer and Mrs. Jane Evans as sponsor.

Other members present were Mrs. Wayne, Mrs. Gene Enfinger, Mrs. Albert Green, Mrs. Tom Swager, Mrs. Bert Ward and Mrs. Charles Ward.

Vacation packages are causing problems

Vacation packages and schemes seem to be a year-round problem for consumers in Florida and other states. The procedure you mentioned for registration is common. Often times around $10.00.

The hitch comes in that consumers must usually take the vacation within an allotted time period, and all reservations must be submitted with the fee to the vacation plan company in advance.

Often these reservations are not in the better hotels or even a city that the consumers request. The consumers involved, too many times, fail to realize that transportation, food and other expenses are not covered by the vacation package. These costs alone can run into large sums of money.

In all likelihood, once the consumers arrive, they will be asked to hear a sales presentation on some "fabulous offer" such as a vacation time sharing plan. Incidentally, the companies that promote these vacation time sharing plans, are currently being investigated by the Federal Trade Commission and the Florida Attorney General.

To make a long story short, vacation plans are often not what they seem to be.

If your friends are interested in a Florida Vacation their best bet is to make arrangements through a reliable travel agency in their area.

Vacation schemes have been a multi-million dollar rip-off and remember, if it sounds too good to be true, it probably is too good to be true.

Insurance seminar to be presented

A seminar on insurance will be presented at 10 a.m. May 12 at the Glades Office Building by the Palm Beach County Cooperative Extension Service according to Extension Home Economics Agent Arlen C. Jones.

The seminar, entitled, "A Die With Your Future". It is designed to provide the consumer with a basic knowledge of what to look for when buying insurance.

The types of protection for individuals and an overview of insurance will also be discussed. The latest legislation regarding no fault auto insurance and national health plans will be reviewed.

The special guest lecturer will be Ms. Vervil L. Mitchell, Extension Home Management and Family Economics Specialist of the University of Florida. The meeting is open to the public.

THE BELLE GLADE HERALD
"VOICE OF THE BEACHES"

While his partner watches from the near side of the court, one of 14 tennis pros taking part in the Florida Pro Doubles tournament last weekend at the Everglades Athletic Club makes a jump to return a volley. By the time the last match, played early Sunday afternoon, was being played, the action was hot and heavy, with a number of local amateurs on the sideline picking up pointers on how to play the game.

Glades Central girls win conference meet

The Glades Central High girls track team won the Suncoast Conference West championship last week during a meet at J.J. Leonard High school, winning 40 points and beating out everybody else, even the 4AAAA schools, in three events. Coach Jay Seider said Kathleen Ford won first place in the shotput for the Raiders with a 37' 6 1/2" heave of the eight-pound ball.

Rosa Wilkerson kept her 1976 unbeaten record intact with a first place win in the 440 yard dash in 60.9 seconds.

The team of Patricia Jones, Linda Baldwin, Alice Ford and Rosa Wilkerson won the 880 medley relay, setting a school record of 1:55.9.

In other events, Glenda Dixon won fourth place in the discus throw, Terry Osborne won fifth place in the long jump and Alma Rolle set a school record as she ran the 110 yard low hurdles in 15.4 seconds for third place.

The Glades Central team won third place in the 880 relay race as Alice Ford, Alma Rolle, Patricia Jones and Barbara Robinson made the run.

Linda Baldwin won sixth place in the 100 yard dash and the team of Alma Rolle, Alice Ford, Linda Baldwin and Terry Osborne won third in the 440 relay.

Levette Nelson won sixth place in the 880 run and Terry Osborne won fifth in the 220 yard dash.

Seider said the team will be competing in the district meet at St. Thomas Aquinas Saturday. The first six contestants in each event will be entered in the regional meet the following week.

Fishing reported good as anglers catch limits

The big news in Belle Glade fishing during the past week was shellcrackers with speck fishermen reporting good fishing at night according to Nan Corbin of Slim's Fish Camp.

Some people believe that eating a dragon's heart will bestow upon one considerable courage. Of course it takes considerable courage to eat a dragon's heart in the first place!

The Glades can mark another winner in the record book - this time in the form of softball - female style.

Yep, behind the pitching of Diane Duda the Glades Day School Gators wrapped up the district championship last week when the Crusaders from Christian Day succumbed in the schools' third rival game of the season and the Gators went on to easily handle the Moore Haven Terriers five to one to advance to the regional competition.

The girls also best Jupiter Christian, a power pitcher who was expected to be the champs - guess they didn't reckon with the Glades. I only got to see two of the team's softball games - both against Christian Day - but was surprised and pleased with coach Mandy Perez's accomplishments.

Looking almost ludicrous at first (don't all people when they attempt a sport which they have never or almost never played before?) the players came together as a unit and the improvement was noticed immediately. Isn't it a wonder what a bunch of females can do when they set their mind to it?

Unfortunately, because of the newspaper deadline, I can't report anything about the outcome of the regionals but best of luck to the Gators and I hope they make it to state - if not, there's always next year, although I understand, the Crusaders plan to give more competition in the future - it's gonna be some kind of rivalry.

Baseball's in full swing now at the local Little League.

EMERY TRAIL
THE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION AND WELFARE REPORTED THAT OVER 75 PERCENT OF AMERICANS ARE LIVING AT POORER LEVELS OF OVER 8,000 TO MOVE CLOSER TO 1978. THE FIRST OF THESE IS THE COST OF A DECADE BEFORE!

League field and since I put in a word for the Farm League last week guess it's the Little League's turn this week.

This week should end the first half of the baseball season and at this moment there is a three-way tie for first place, between Everglades Farm, Equipment, Royal's and Badock's, but the number will dwindle to two when Everglades Farm Equipment and Badock go against each other.

I went to one of the games last Saturday night and watched South Bay Growers win its first game of the season against Roe Steele, but not before Roe Steele's second baseman, Johnny Frazier, blasted a grand slam homer into right field in the last inning. That grand slammer helped the team to coast up from a 16 to four deficit to 16-11, as the South Bay Growers held on.

Speaking of baseball and Little League, there's a movie out I would recommend to anyone who has tried to coach a baseball/soft ball team or to anyone who has ever played the game. It's called "The Bad News Bears", a tale of how a group of "castoffs" come together with an indifferent coach and make a shambles of their first game. And as the story goes, the coach and his team take a second look at themselves, and a couple of players and begin again.

I won't tell you how it goes because that would spoil the fun, especially the ending - but it is hilarious and many sports fans can identify with it.

To switch the subject, I got my first taste of "Jaws" while ago when visiting the beach and encountered a real live shark. It was far from a 25-footer, being only three to four foot long but still big enough to make me keep my distance. He (she?) look ferocious enough to bite a big hunk out of anyone's leg and I'm surprised enough he didn't make a stab at some of the foolish sunbathers who waded to within four feet of the voracious teeth. I guess all it wanted was its mama because after forced to wander along the shore for a distance he swam out to sea.

I had just been tempted to go swimming before the shark made known its appearance and needless to say I changed my mind quickly. As a matter of fact, I don't think I've been in the water since "Jaws".

Just give me a weekend at the beach along side of a nice, big blue swimming pool which I can dip into from the sweltering sun.

Vince Lombardi said once that winning isn't the most important thing in the world. It's the only thing in the world. That may or may not be true but it's nice to be a winner and associate with winners...and that's what we have here at Watson Ford.

When the awards for the Jacksonville District were handed out last week, every department head and every salesman on our staff walked away with the top prize available in his or her field.

Ed Rongione, our new car sales manager, won the top award in his class, amassing enough points to beat out all the other Ford sales managers in Florida and southern Georgia to win a trip to Las Vegas. Ed is one of only 34 people to make the trip nationally for Ford.

Connie Bowen, our parts manager, won Ford's Medallion Award for parts sales and Ray Alston, our service manager, won the Medallion Award for providing the best service in the district.

Each and every one of our salesmen, Clarence Throop, Artis Vereen, Arthur (Blondy) Mann and Mario Garcia were once again awarded membership in the Society of Professional Sales Consultants.

And if that weren't enough, Dick May, the new truck sales manager here at Watson Ford, won the Sales Manager of the Year Award and our business manager, Jackie Rawls, won the Business Management Award for Accounting Excellence.

Then there was Yours Truly, who was lucky enough to win the first place in general sales for the year in Jacksonville District.

We wanted to share the good news with you, our customers and friends, because we couldn't have done it without you. We're particularly proud of the awards because they're all "people" awards and that's where we place the emphasis here at Watson.

We know we have the best of cars, trucks and parts to sell but good equipment isn't enough if you don't offer the personal touch that goes with it.

So come on down and meet the Watson Ford family. We're winners and we'll make a winner out of you.

Alliance Church to burn notes

A landmark service will take place for the Belle Glade Alliance Church at 11 a.m. Sunday when two mortgages are burned on the grounds at 425 E. Canal St. East.

The Rev. Mark O'Farrell, pastor of the church, and Dr. Paul Alford, district superintendent of the Southeastern District of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, along with the Church Executive Committee, will burn the two documents.

A financial picture of the recent years of the Belle Glade Alliance Church will be presented along with other interesting details.

The services will conclude with dinner in the fellowship hall. Friends of the church are extended an invitation to attend this special service.

Services held for

Mrs. Lee Williamson

Funeral services were held Tuesday for Mrs. Lee Williamson, a former Belle Glade resident, at T. J. Began Jr. and Sons Funeral Home in Madison.

Mrs. Williamson, 67, died Saturday following a short illness.

Survivors include her husband, Vinson Williamson of Madison; six sons, Edgar Williamson of Las Cruces, N. M., Albert of Phenix City, Ala., Jimmy of West Palm Beach, Raymond of Hobe Sound, Tommy of Pacatello, Idaho and Wayne of Lake Worth; three daughters, Mrs. Christine Johnson of Fort Myers, Mrs. Ollie Mae Jones of York, Pa. and Mrs. Myrtle Lee Adams of Salt Lake City, Utah; three brothers, Chris Buchanan of Pinetta, Cleo Buchanan of Brunswick, Ga. and Bellamy Buchanan of East Paris, Ga.; two sisters, Miss Fannie Sue Buchanan of Carson City, Col. and Mrs. Wynona De Villies of Fayetteville, N.C. and 25 grandchildren.

Funeral services held for J.D. Biggs

Funeral services were held Saturday for J. D. Biggs of South Bay at Mixson Funeral Home Chapel on East Palm Beach Road with the Rev. Clinton E. Turner of the Belle Glade Church of Christ officiating.

Biggs was born in Portageville, Mo. and had been a South Bay resident for the past nine years, coming here from Missouri. He died April 22 in Glades General Hospital. He made his residence at 230 Palm Beach Rd.

For the past three years, he had been employed by William Gressinger and Sons as a night watchman. He was a member of the Pentecostal Church.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Doris Biggs of South Bay; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Biggs of Caruthersville, Mo.; three sons, Anthony Biggs of St. Louis, Mo., Frankie Biggs of East St. Louis, Ill. and Larry Biggs of Holland, Mich.; a daughter, Miss Sue Biggs of South Bay; two brothers, Billy Biggs of Hollywood and James F. Willing Workers observe twentieth anniversary at St. John's Baptist

The Willing Workers club observed its 20th anniversary April 11 at St. John's First Baptist Church.

The guest speaker for the occasion was Mrs. Mercedes Robinson, assistant superintendent of Palm Beach County Board of Public Instruction (West Area). Mrs. Robinson addressed her audience to the theme,

"Christian Service is Inexpensive." She said that all our material product seems to rise in price weekly and we are buying these things. However, our hope for eternal life lies in Christian Service. What are we doing about Christian service? This inexpensive service truly demonstrated means "Life Everlasting."

Mrs. Barbara Knight presented the speaker and Mrs. Effie Grear, principal of Glades Central High School made responsive remarks. Mrs. F. Harrell, Mrs. D. McCurdy and Mrs. Ruby Rutledge also had various roles in the program. Mrs. Ida Mizell served as mistress of ceremonies. The Willing Workers Club was founded by the Rev. J. B. Adams in 1956. The club began with 13 members. Six of those in numbers are still with the club.

They were honored with plaques engraved with "Twenty years of dedicated service." The founder, Rev. Adams, was given an engraved tribute of gold. The club raised $1,744.43.

Mommie ... They want me to come to church.

'Yes, Mommie, they do want her in church, for in the church, they have a place for all ages. No child is too young to learn. This also provides you an opportunity to worship and give undivided attention to church services.

"Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it."

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedom which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Social Chatter

By Maude Vereen

Easter Holiday brought many interesting people to our city to see their friends or relatives. A very interesting gentleman flew all the way from Chicago, Ill. to visit his friend, Mrs. Mercedes Robinson.

Mr. Merchant McAllister Sr., who is vice president of School Services, Inc., the world's largest printing of school forms, and his second position is lieutenant security supervisor of the United States Postal Service Force at Chicago's main office.

Mr. McAllister stayed at the Holiday Inn while in the city. His plans to remain and attend Easter Church at the Mt. Zion had to be cancelled due to an emergency call from his office because his assistant became ill.

Before leaving, he met a few of Mrs. Robinson's close friends. He visited Mrs. E. T. Robinson and Mrs. Rosa Stevenson's home and saw a little of the city. He plans to return very soon to complete his visit.

Home from Daytona Beach where they attend school at Bethune Cookman College are Mrs. Jeanette Keaton, a senior and Sheila Gen Gains, an advanced sophomore, Marlene Lund a freshman.

Kenneth Gailous, a senior at Norfolk State College in Norfolk, Va. was also back in town.

Mrs. Irene Salmon was admitted to Everglades Memorial Hospital in Pahokee. She is in Room 209.

Mrs. Carol Brown of Jacksonville, is home to visit with her mother, Mrs. Salmon, also Mrs. Eloise Marshall of Riviera Beach.

Mrs. Deborah Byrd Springs, a former active member of Mt. Zion A.M.E. Sunday School, will be visiting home this summer.

She attended Lake Shore High and is a 1969 graduate of Belle Glade High. After completing high school, she attended Norfolk State College in Norfolk, Va., majoring in Elementary Education, and is a member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority.

She is now teaching in HeadStart, a preschool program in Alexandria, Va., where she resides with her daughter and husband, a police investigator for the Alexandria Police Dept.

Deborah has also been appointed Affirmative Action Officer for the Economic Opportunities Commission of Alexandria.

Her duties are to prepare an affirmative action plan with the director of E.O.C. and to protect the rights of women and minorities whenever discriminatory practice on the basis of race, sex or color prevails. Deborah is the daughter of Mrs. Juanita Byrd, an active member of Mt. Zion A.M.E. Church.

Girl Scout Troop 239 spent the weekend Friday April 9 through Sunday April 11 at Camp Welaka in Jupiter.

They were chartered by their leader, Mrs. E. T. Robinson, who was assisted by Mrs. Mattie Leland and Mrs. Mary Foster. Connie Foster, a former girl scout of Troop 239 also went along.

The girls had fun as well as a few chills spending their first time at camp and living in tents. They hiked a number of miles made nature craft and cooked.

Mrs. Robinson and the troop wishes to thank Mr. Leroy Nelson for making the trip pleasant by taking them to camp Friday and picking them up for their return to Belle Glade Sunday on his bus.

The Mt. Zion African Methodist Episcopal Church observed Easter Sunday for Sunday School with the theme, "Pack a Pew". A few of the church members were asked to pack a pew with relatives and friends and to especially invite some persons who don't belong to any church. This was our second time for this type of service and we find it to be so successful that I feel that we should have it on some other time of the year. Mrs. Patricia Murray brought the Easter story to us.

Morning worship began at 11 a.m. with the Rev. Charles Robinson bringing the message.

At 3:30 p.m., the Easter Parade was narrated by Miss Ronda Grear and sponsored by Mrs. Mattie Leland. The little girls and boys were beautiful as they paraded down the church aisle to show off their Easter outfits. The chairman for the baby contest was Mrs. Cora Thompson.

Mrs. Thompson and her committee had a lovely program which consisted of all four choirs, rendering a song service.

The contestants were Tawanda Y. Carrigan, sponsored by Mrs. Teresa Ellison. Toshia L. Kyles sponsored by Mrs. Shirley Morris. Janet Denise Malone sponsored by Mrs. Mary Ann Malone and Chastlene D. Sharp sponsored by Mrs. Bertha Sharp.

Toshia Kyles won first place while Tawanda Carrigan won second and Chastlene Sharp won third.

This program is one of our annual events for the Women's Day Celebration which will be held Sunday, You are cordially invited.

The Miss Mt. Zion Contest will be held at 8 p.m. tonight at the church. Please attend and see who will represent the church for this year. The contestants are Mrs. M. G. Potts, Mrs. Freddie Howard and Mrs. Minnie Sistrunk. The program chairman is Mrs. Florence Smith.

THOUGHT
The stars walked when the reed was born,
And heaven wept at the birth of the throne.
Joy was plucked like a flower and torn
For Time, forshadowed Good Friday morn.

But the stars laughed like children free
And Heaven was hung with the rainbow's glee
When at Easter Sunday, so fair to see
Time bowed before eternity.

It is not too strong to say that there should be no "day of the Lord" had there been no Sunrise of the Saviour's resurrection. Easter is not incidental to the Christian Faith. The resurrection is the climax and capstone of it all.
